

Congress approves depot housing funds

By David Rocks
PFIJ Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — After months of delay, Congress on Thursday night approved a fiscal 1988 defense budget which contains about $10 million for military construction projects in the Metro East.

By an 86-9 vote, the Senate agreed to the House-Senate Department of Defense conference report which calls for up to $236 billion in spending. The House on Wednesday passed the same measure by a 264-158 vote. Sen. Alan J. Dixon and Reps.

Mel Price and Kenneth J. Gray, all Democrats, voted for the measure. Rep. Richard Durbin, also a Democrat, voted against it. Sen. Paul Simon, a Democratic presidential candidate, was campaigning in New York and Iowa and did not vote.

President Ronald Reagan is expected to sign the bill, which earmarks funds for military projects. But before the money can be spent, it must be appropriated. The defense appropriations bill is being debated in a conference committee.

The bill contains a $9.7 million authorization to build 100 housing units at the St. Louis Army Support Center in Granite City, as well as about $9 million for construction projects at Scott Air Force Base in Belleville.

Funding for projects at Scott includes:

- $2.55 million for a new Air Force Communications Command headquarters building.
- $3.8 million for renovation of the base's sewage treatment plant.
- $730,000 to upgrade communications links between Scott and the Defense Department's satellite.

• $1.1 million in 1989 for a new radar equipment building.

• $630,000 in 1989 for a new kitchen building.

The bill also instructs Scott officials to plan a $10 million headquarters building for the United States Transportation Command.

The bill had been held up for months because the Senate wanted higher spending levels than the House, and because the House-passed version of the bill included more stringent arms control provisions. Reagan had threatened to veto the bill if it did not authorize higher spending and allow more latitude in arms control negotiations.

Dixon, a member of the Armed Services Committee and a conferee on the bill, said on the Senate floor that the conference legislation should be more to the president's liking than the House version.

"It is not a perfect piece of legislation," Dixon told his colleagues. "However, this legislation is the best product possible given our budget constraints and many other considerations which were raised in this conference. This is a bill the president can sign, and must sign."

Durbin said he voted against the measure because it contained too much money for the administration's Strategic Defense Initiative, or Star Wars missile defense system. He also objected to the less stringent arms control provisions in the conference bill.

$586,000 school tax levy adopted

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — An annual tax levy of $586,000, up $15,000 over last year, was adopted by the Board of Education on Thursday. A public hearing preceded the levy's final adoption.

If the full amount of taxes was collected, based on the 1986 assessed valuation of $12,202,471, the new levy would produce $566,386, Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

The levy was set higher this year in case the assessed valuation goes up. Assessed valuation figures are not released by County Clerk Evelyn Bowles until April or later, Vickers said.

It would be possible to raise the $586,000 figure if the assessment figure increases, he said.

The rate for 1988 collection of 1987 taxes will be determined next spring when the levy is applied to the new assessment total.

Vickers estimated the total tax rate on the new levy at $4.29 per $100 assessed valuation. The Venice school tax rate this year is $4.12.

Depending on what rate the county clerk sets for bonds and interest could cause the total rate to vary, Vickers said.

"Last year I estimated the rate at $4.09 and it was $4.12, a three-cent difference," he said.

In 1990, the district will pay off its 1979 Working Cash Fund bonds, dropping the rate about 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

"But, this year is the first year to pay on the $100,000 life-safety bonds," the superintendent said.

The life-safety bonds will be paid off in four years when the rate should further drop, resulting in a total decrease of 49 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

"This would make the total tax rate under $4 for the first time in several years," said Vickers.

This year, a new levy is allowed for Social Security, with an estimated $21,000 for this purpose listed in the aggregate levy. Estimated amounts to be raised by real estate taxation in the various funds are:

- Educational, $220,000;
- Operations, building and maintenance, $60,000;
- Transportation, $29,000;
- Working cash fund, $7,000;
- Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $17,000;
- Fire prevention, safety and environmental and energy conservation, $8,000;
- Tort immunity (liability insurance), $14,000;
- Special education, $6,500; and
- Worker's compensation, $3,500.

IP rate hike plan draws opposition

By Michael Leathers

The Citizens Utility Board opposes an Illinois Power Co. proposal to increase residential electric rates an estimated 59 percent during the next 10 years to pay for the Clinton nuclear power plant, a CUB spokeswoman said Friday.

State Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Tyler, said he is uncomfortable with the rate increase proposal filed Thursday with the Illinois Commerce Commission. He wants a 10-year moratorium on rate increases.

"I'd like to see the power company come out and tell us the stockholders are going to pay for Clinton," Stephens said. The plan would increase customers' bills an average of 11.1 percent in late 1988. The rate increase for the first year is actually expected to be 13.2 percent. But utility officials said it would be offset by a 2.1 percent reduction in fuel costs resulting from Clinton's lower operating cost.

The 1988 increase would be followed by annual increases ranging from 4 to 5.9 percent, com-

Once the nuclear power plant has been paid off, a one-time rate decrease, ranging from 12.9 percent to 16.7 percent, would be implemented, Daine said. If the annual rate hikes are at, or slightly less than, 5.9 percent, the plan will be paid off as early as 1996 and the rate decrease will be at the low end of the range.

Illinois Power estimated the average rate increase for residential customers would be 10.9 percent. The average residential customer can expect his annual bill to increase to $884.93 from $782.97, an increase of $101.96 — for the first year of the proposal, Daine said.

The average first-year increase for commercial customers would be 14.4 percent. Industrial customers would see an average increase of 9 percent in late 1988.

Daine said Illinois Power selected the staggered rate increase to prevent customers from experiencing "rate shock."

Realtors want answers at forum

By Dave Gosnell

GRANITE CITY — City officials were grilled Wednesday by realtors about the city's downtown redevelopment plan.

The realtors were among about 40 residents who questioned Mayor Von Dee Cruse and other officials about various city issues. The questions came during the mayor's annual forum at City Hall.

Complaints about trash, Plan Commission members, pollution, mobile home laws and the way City Council minutes are taken were also raised at the forum.

Downtown

Many were concerned about the city's plan to build a downtown shopping center downtown, which would require the purchase and demolition of downtown blocks. City officials have said more action on the plan is likely to happen in the next few months.

Harold Cavins, a Granite City realtor, said uncertainty about the city's plans for the shopping center is making it difficult to sell downtown property. He said property owners are upset about the city's possible use of a state development agency that has "quick-take" eminent domain powers.

"Does it mean that we will be fighting in court for years to come?" Cavins asked.

Ortbals said the city may use the newly created Southwest Illinois Development Authority for land acquisition and bonding assistance, but that cooperation, not court action, of downtown property owners is crucial.

"If we have 15 people negotiating in court, that would be the death of downtown," Ortbals said. "We're not planning to throw people out in the snow."

In response to skepticism expressed about who would determine property values if the owners were forced to sell, Ortbals said the city will hire a professional appraisal consultant before land negotiations begin.

Cruse said he thought it was important for the city to be fair to the downtown property owners and would like to see most remain.

Ortbals said the city would eventually set up a business relocation staff when the shopping center plans are more certain.

Plan Commission

Resident Gladys Waggoner asked Cruse why he doesn't fire Plan Commission members who do not attend commission meetings. Waggoner said many residents go to commission meetings when property is affected by a zoning petition but the commission does not have a quorum.

The transplant will take place after Stacy recovers from a minor virus. Her condition is monitored daily. The transplant is a risky and complicated procedure, Hauser

But Hauser said the family has no illusions. The transplant could lead to primary organ failures. She said marrow recipients

Telephone books coming

Delivery of Granite City's new telephone directories, Ameritech "PagesPlus," published by Donnelly Directory, began Nov. 16.

Dominantly red, in a reversal of last year's yellow cover with red swirls, this year's cover continues the pattern being used to trademark phone books for Illinois Bell customers.

Included in the coverage and circulation zone of both white and yellow pages of the Granite City directory are Madison, Pontoon Beach and Venice. Alphabetical listings, compiled from Illinois Bell's records to provide the latest, most accurate reference available, also include those for Alton, Belleville, Brooklyn, Cahokia, Caseyville, Centerville, East St. Louis, Fairmont City, Fairview Heights, Freeburg, Lebanon, Lenzburg, National City, New Athens, O'Fallon, Sauget, Smithton, Swansea, and Washington Park.

Featured in the new directory is a separate Yolo of "Consumer Information." At the beginning are 17 pages of detailed maps and street guides for Alton, Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach, East Alton, Roxana, Wood River, Godfrey, and Bethalto — plus a map of greater St. Louis and vicinity showing interstate highways.

War buddies being sought

The 157th Infantry Association seeks former members of the 157th Infantry Regiment and the 157th Field Artillery.

These units were part of the 45th Infantry Division during World War II and had an outstanding record of combat while fighting in Sicily, Italy, France and Germany.

The association conducts an annual reunion and quarterly newsletter is sent to each member.

For information contact Ralph W. Fink, 19 Williamsburg, Hershey, Pa. 17033; phone: (717) 533-5482.

Especially being sought is Peter P. Demitroff, who is known to have lived in Granite City many years ago.

Doctor: Spreading AIDS unlikely in class setting

SPRINGFIELD — There is virtually no risk of an AIDS-infected child spreading the disease in the classroom, said an expert who has been asked to advise a judge in a case in East St. Louis federal court.

"In a school situation 99.9 percent of the time there is no reason to be concerned," said Dr. Larry Von Behren of the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine.

Von Behren also minimized any risk of a hemophilic child with the AIDS virus transmitting the disease.

The probability of a hemophilic child bleeding over another child is so low you have a larger risk of breaking a leg getting out of bed in the morning," he said.

Von Behren was chosen this week by U.S. District Judge James L. Foreman to be one of two medical experts to advise him in a lawsuit filed in federal court in September. The lawsuit, scheduled to go to trial on Nov. 20, seeks to force the Belleville School District to admit a 6-year-old boy with AIDS to regular classes.

The mother of another child who has AIDS-related complex but not a disease, decided on another route by agreeing to send her son to a special classroom in Granite City.

Seven-year-old Jason Robertson, a hemophilic, started classes Monday after his mother, Tammie, decided not to push for him to attend regular classes.

Von Behren, during a seminar Nov. 13, said coping with the deadly disease was complicated by the hysteria of many people, what he called the "AfrAIDS." "We have to get people to think about the disease rationally," he said.

He said evidence was overwhelming that AIDS was not spread through "casual contact" but only through sexual contact, intravenous drug use and possibly by breast milk.

He also warned the disease was spreading to the heterosexual population in downstate Illinois.

Work center opens at old school

The renovation of McKinley School's second floor for the new Providence Inc. offices is complete and an open house was held Nov. 17, said Ginny Lepping, vice president.

The renovated space offers 2,500 square feet that will be used for the Work Stamina Program, a rehabilitation program for clients with work-related injuries.

"The Work Stamina Program's Work Center is a uniquely designed area, modeled after a modern warehouse, containing customized work stations and a computerized BTE work simulator for the purpose of evaluating work tolerance and building stamina." Lepping said.

It's a highly specialized rehabilitation program that bridges the gap between traditional rehab and a return to work by simulating work-place activities and surroundings in a monitored environment. About 85 percent of all workers who complete the program return to previous employment; and 15 percent are returned to alternate job placement.

The Work Stamina Program, which is unique to the Metro East Area, is a joint effort between St. Elizabeth Medical Center and the Work Center, an experienced, industrial rehabilitation team originating in St. Louis.

In addition to the Work Stamina area, the floor will include offices and conference room and will be the new home to the Providence central office and the Employee Assistance Program. The Granite City Industrial Medicine Clinic will remain in its present location, on the ground floor of SEMC.

SHIRLI KIBORT stands in her "Christmas Wonderland."

Kibort's life surrounded by flowers

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

"I want some red roses for a blue lady."

GRANITE CITY — Flowers play a big part in Shirli Kibort's life.

Kibort and her husband, Al, own Shirli K Floral Designs, 2701 Pontoon Road. She said she spends a many hours at the store, sometimes working six or seven days a week.

"You have to love it to make it successful," she said.

Kibort will soon be celebrating her fourth anniversary at the Pontoon Road location, she said.

Kibort started the store in her home through her interest in home decorating, she said.

The store sells flowers for all occasions including weddings and funerals, she said.

"We're always working on weddings," Kibort said.

Beside fragrant fresh flowers, Kibort also sells handcrafted silk flowers which are also popular, she said.

A standout feature of Kibort's store is the window display which she changes for different seasons or occasions, she said.

Kibort said a lot of people visit her store after seeing the display.

"I think what brings people into a shop is the window display," she said.

The shop's interior also is gaily decorated for the holidays ahead.

In what Kibort calls her "Christmas Wonderland," Christmas trees, flowers, bows and other holiday items are centered around a white fireplace.

"There's just so much to see here," she said.

Kibort will hold an open house at her shop beginning the week after Thanksgiving, she said.

Annuity programs more popular

By Bob Hardcastle

Annuity programs have been in existence in the investment field for many years. Only recently, though, have annuities become more popular.

With the passage of the 1987 Tax Reform Bill, annuities have become one of the few types of investments that have a tax-deferred accumulation in its savings program. The savings inside an annuity will continue to accumulate over the years and build up annuity value without the owner having to pay taxes on its accumulation. If, for any reason at any time, the owner of an annuity plan wishes to take out certain amounts of savings, it can be done, and in many cases on a tax-free basis.

Another popular reason for annuities gaining the spotlight in the investment field is that there are different types of annuities now, both at fixed rates and variable rates.

The fixed rates are guaranteed for a period of years at a specific interest rate. The longer the guaranteed rate, the lower the return. The shorter the period, the greater the interest rate. An example would be a one-year guarantee might be a fixed rate of 9 percent where a three-year guarantee might be only 7 1/2 percent to 8 percent. Usually on fixed-rate annuities, the return over the last two years has been more than what a CD returns.

There also usually is a minimum rate of 4 percent to 5 percent in every annuity. Annuities are used for different purposes, but most investors seek annuities that will continue to build until the cash is needed down line.

A variable annuity is a newer type of plan. Monies usually are invested in diversified portfolio. One investment focus might be a fixed income, where funds are deposited in money markets, CDs, government bonds and bills or GNMA's (government-backed mortgage notes).

Other areas might be the stock market and zero coupon bonds. There also is a new area that is part of a variable plan called a total vest or total return. Here, money is invested in all of the areas—zero coupon bonds, money markets and the like.

The amount that is invested in each category depends on the portfolio manager. Most total-vest areas have the right to be 100-percent cash at any time. Variable annuities do not guarantee a specific return. Therefore, they could have a higher or lower return than the fixed annuity depending on how the investments are managed.

Most annuity plans have surrender charges for early withdrawal. Some plans allow for withdrawals without charges, usually up to 10 percent of the account annually. Most plans will waive surrender charges at death of the annuitant or when the plan has its regular monthly income initialized. Most plans allow for the surrender charges to decline over a period of 6 to 15 years, eventually reaching zero.

Another point to remember is that if you take all the money out of the plan at one time, you will have to pay taxes on the difference between what was originally paid in and the accumulation. It is always advisable to contact your insurance agent or investment broker when trying to work out any cash payouts in your annuity. Most annuities are backed and operated by insurance companies.

It is wise to check the objectives of each plan.

Small business likes unemployment insurance

A new unemployment insurance proposal that will save employers $86 million in taxes and $440 million in FUTA penalties in the first year was welcomed by the National Federation of Independent Business/Illinois, the state's largest small-business organization.

"This is a fair proposal that allows both employers and employees to win," said John R. Davis, director of governmental relations for NFIB/Illinois. "Labor will receive the UI increases it has been pushing for, while employers will see a reduction in the levels they've been paying."

One of the key areas of the proposal calls for separate $1 million assistance funds to be established for employees and small businesses. Workers and small-business owners can use the fund to appeal UI cases.

Negotiations between business and labor for UI revisions have been at an impasse for several months over the lockout issue. Labor demanded that provisions for UI benefits should be made for workers locked out during the course of a labor dispute. Business, on the other hand, argued that the lockout issue was non-negotiable. Under the new proposal, workers idled by a lockout will receive UI benefits only in certain situations.

"The method for determining state unemployment insurance taxes will be simplified by Illinois' conversion to a new system that more directly relates contributions owed to benefits paid and assesses benefit charges only against the benefit recipient's last employer," Davis said.

Davis said the UI plan comes at a time when the state was facing a crisis with the program. Illinois had until Nov. 9 to pay off its UI debt or all of its employers will be forced to pay a FUTA penalty tax of $405 for every full-time employee.

General fund balance rises

The available balance in the state's General Funds on Oct. 30 was $89 million, up $8 million from a year ago but below the $200 million warning level. Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported Nov. 10.

The $86 million balance was down $22 million from the September balance of $108 million and was $68 million less than the $154 million balance posted June 30. It marks the 15th consecutive month the month-end balance has been below the $200 million cash flow warning zone.

Revenues from state sources through the first four months of fiscal 1988 were $3.1 billion, up $204 million from comparable revenues of a year ago. Total General Funds expenditures, meanwhile, grew $9 million to $3.69 billion, 2 percent higher than a year ago.

Total lapse-period spending in fiscal 1988 charged to fiscal 1987 appropriations was $473 million, up $32 million from comparable lapse spending a year ago.

Civic leaders plan to attract holiday crowd

By William Scott Simon
Staff affiliate

Christmas in St. Louis, a newly formed group of civic leaders promoting the holiday season to attract tourists and shoppers to the metropolitan area, as well as raise money for charity, Tuesday announced several events for Nov. 27 and 28 that will kick off the holiday season.

St. Louis Mayor Vincent C. Schoemehl Jr. will begin the campaign with a Christmas light switch-on ceremony. Stephen Apted, owner of the Cheshire Inn and chairman of the Christmas lighting, said Schoemehl will appear at a "Light Up Party" to officially turn on the Christmas lights. The event will begin at 5 p.m. Nov. 27 on the Locust Street side of the Old Post Office.

"We're going to have jugglers, bands, the Big Red Line and all kinds of entertainment until 6 p.m.," Apted said. "Then at exactly 6:10 p.m., Mayor Schoemehl will throw the switch to light up the extensive Christmas lights."

Allyn Glaub of Southwestern Bell, a spokesman for the group, said there are about 500,000 special Christmas lights in place on the Arch grounds, at Kiener Plaza, in the Morton D. May amphitheater immediately west of Kiener and at Foelker Park, across from Union Station.

"We want to make St. Louis a counterpart to Christmas displays on Michigan Avenue in Chicago and the Plaza in Kansas City," Glaub said. "We're hoping our display will be attractive to shoppers, visitors and tourists."

Apted said immediately after the Christmas lights are lighted, a fireworks display will be set off from the top of the Mercantile Tower, sponsored by Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc.

At about 6:45 p.m., Apted said the public is invited to participate in the "Night in the Light" walk around downtown. The informal tour will be held between Broadway and 11th Street, and Locust and Washington.

The purpose of the walk is to bring more attention to downtown area businesses and their displays, Apted said.

Another component of the festivities is the annual Christmas Carol Festival at Kiel Auditorium, which will be held at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 27. A matinee performance also is set for 2 p.m. Nov. 28.

Another feature throughout the holiday season will be a series of entertainment events at the Morton D. May amphitheater, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 28, according to Joseph White of BHN Advertising, the special event chairman for Christmas in St. Louis.

White said a musical and dance performance titled "The Twelve Days of Christmas" will feature a variety of traditional and folk Christmas music. After the kick-off production, performances will be held on each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at noon beginning Dec. 2 and continuing through Dec. 23.

There will be a final performance at noon Dec. 30. All the performances will be sponsored by Marsh and McLennan Inc., a St. Louis accounting firm.

The Christmas in St. Louis Parade will begin at 5 p.m. Nov. 28, starting at Tucker and Chestnut. The parade route will travel north on Tucker to Olive, east to Seventh Street, north to Locust Street, west to 14th Street, south to Chestnut and east to Tucker where the parade will end.

The downtown holiday activities will close with a bang shortly after midnight New Year's Day on the riverfront with a fireworks display.

Idea lab studies fingerprinting

GRANITE CITY - Jane Isenburg's classroom reward system was the springboard for her intermediate idea lab students to study the science of fingerprinting.

Isenburg, learning center and idea lab teacher at Parkway Elementary School, uses the "thumbs up" symbol to record her students' good behavior, good scores or achievement of a goal. When a student earns five "thumbs up," he is rewarded with additional computer time.

The thumb print became the topic for learning and discussion in Isenburg's idea lab gifted class. Using a variety of sources, students studied the types of fingerprints and determined what type they had.

As a final activity, Detective Richard Schardan of the Granite City Police Department spoke to the class, demonstrated how the police "lift" fingerprints at a crime scene, showed how fingerprints are taken at the police station and answered questions about fingerprints.

Students taking part in this study included: Jenny Skaggs, Jennifer Schwager, Adrienne Yates, Tracey Franklin, Willie Coker, Brian Wortham, Kim Elmore, Starlene Modglin, Angela Fawcett, Alicia Skirball, Jeanine McMillan, Nicole Beckley, Clarissa Holmes and Jennifer Wojtowicz. Nancy Marti is Parkway principal.

Henson challenged by inexperienced skaters

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY—Garry Henson welcomes the challenge. One might think a high school hockey coach who has lost his first four-year class to graduation—that's 15 players—would be cringing at the prospects for his mostly inexperienced team.

That's not the way it is. Although the Warrior hockey team lost that large group of seniors that won more than 80 games in the last four years, Henson is looking forward to doing a little more coaching this year.

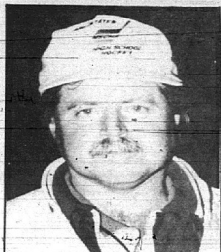

"With an experienced team that has played together for so long like we had last year, you have to be more of a psychologist than a coach," Henson said.

"The key is to keep after them to do their job. They all knew what to do, but you had to keep after them to do it."

"We'll have to do more coaching and teaching with this team because they won't always know what their job is. I'm really looking forward to it."

It will be a challenge and Henson expects to take his lumps this year, particularly early. The Warriors dropped a 13-3 decision to Vianney on Nov. 14 and faced Kirkwood yesterday. But the coach hopes to have his team primed when it starts facing its North Division rivals. The first division game is tomorrow against McCluer at the North County rink at 7 p.m.

"We're not going to be as strong as we have been, but I really think we can still win the North Division (of the Mid States Club Hockey Association)," Henson said. "Our seniors will have to perform for us, though."

The Warriors have seven seniors, many of whom were a big part of last year's team that came within a sudden-death loss of reaching the league semifinals. Matt Krekovich, Tommy Brown, Richie Grogan, Todd Richey, Dan Wilson, Charlie Alexander and Bill Dewitt are the seniors.

"We will be asking a lot of all of them," Henson said. "Particularly Todd Richey, who will move back to defense. He is the only experienced player we will have at defense."

That's quite a change from recent years when the defense was anchored by the dominating presence of Todd Hinterser. Joining Richey on defense will be sophomores Jason Bucatch, John Culbert and Mark Ekalitis. Ekalitis, a resident of Troy, is the only player on the team from another school district. The MSCHA allows teams a certain number of players from school districts without hockey programs.

But Henson's biggest worry is goaltending. Gone are stalwarts like Tom Schnefke and Collins Harlan. Replacing them are juniors John Rains and Mike Parkinson, both first-year goalies.

"Rains just showed up at practice one day and said he would like to play goal," Henson said. "And he did very well against Vianney when the game was 2-2 midway through the second period. And Parkinson was on left wing when I asked if he would play goal and he said yes."

With the inexperience in goal and on defense, the Warriors will play a heavy reliance on offense. Their top two lines will have to produce the goals. Krekovich centers Wilson and sophomore Matt Schnefke centers

Grogan and Brown.

Krekovich, Roberson, Schnefke and Brown will all have to score," Henson said. "And Grogan battles in the corners and piles up assists. And we won't have a Todd Hinterser piling up points from the blue line, so our forwards will have to score."

The third and fourth lines are more inexperienced. Junior Jim Morgan centers Alexander and Dewitt. All three of them were junior varsity players last season. Junior Jim Hawkins centers sophomores Chris Burns and Doug Crites. Hawkins and Burns are first-year players.

"But Crites was a beginner last season and couldn't skate a lick," Henson said. "And now he is a very good skater. So a year can make a difference for the younger players."

Henson said the team isn't as physically strong as he would like, but hopes they can bulk up

Stars explode for 124-85 win to open season

By Gary King
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY—If his squad's showing Thursday was an accurate reading of things to come, Stars coach Terry Collins could become a resident expert on schizophrenia by winter's end.

To understate the matter, GCC routed Sanford-Brown College in the season opener for both teams. In fact, by halftime of the contest, Collins' only issue in question was how many digits the scoreboard could handle.

And for all intents and purposes, the Stars' 124-85 win was hardly anything to chew nails about.

But try as he did, Collins couldn't coax himself into any false illusions. "I'd say we're talented, but we're inconsistent," he said.

To draw an analogy, the night for Collins was akin to a 4-minute trek on the Screaming Eagle.

When the Stars were on, they were right to behold. When they weren't, Collins was strongly tempted to turn his head and look the other way. Fortunately, the goal was better than the not-so-good was bad.

GCC jumped out to a quick 35-17 lead 10 minutes into the contest only to watch Sanford-Brown trim the lead to 11 at various intervals of the first half.

But the rope-a-doping ceased late in the half when the Stars went on a 16-1 tear to take a 65-41 lead at the intermission.

By this time, the fat lady was closing her hymnal. "But it really mattered, but Sanford-Brown almost got back to within the general vicinity of shouting distance early in the second half."

In response to the challenge, the running-and-gunning Stars turned up the throttle and rattled off 14 straight points to go up 98-58.

The whole scene was like a blur to Collins. "I think some of our sloppy play reflects that we are easily distracted by a lot of extraneous things," Collins said. "We got up but then then seemed at times to lose our intensity and poise. And that's not good."

But he was pleased because we sustained about five real good minutes of basketball during the second half. We were pushing the ball inside well, getting good shots and playing nearly perfect."

And if there was no other lesson to be learned, the Stars got one point across loud and clear: Depth will not be a problem. They came in waves. They all scored. At the first sign of fatigue, a new face would roll off the bench onto the court and into the box score.

In all, nine Stars contributed to the disposal of Sanford-Brown, with Charles Craggett, Darwin Montana, Don Stevanus and Otis Ware leading the way.

Lady Warrior cagers should be improved

By Gary King
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY—John Hutchings is in a position to make only one promise: The winter will not be boring.

With six returning letterwinners from last year's 5-18 Warrior girls basketball team, Hutchings thinks his squad is in decent shape. But the image he sees in the crystal ball is still somewhat murky, so he's placing an asterisk next to every prediction.

"I think we're looking a little better this year than we did last year," Hutchings said. "We're going to start three seniors and two sophomores, so we're not really sure what's going to happen."

And Hutchings admits he really doesn't want to find out what lies in the unknown until it happens.

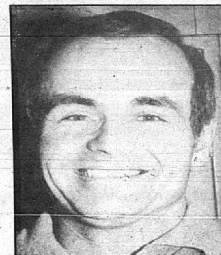

As a whole, the Warriors are a young team. Beyond the starting five, they're also an inexperienced team—the kind of team that could be in trouble without all pistons hitting on all cylinders.

"We don't have a lot of bench this year," Hutchings said. "If we get into some foul trouble with our starting five, we could have some of our junior varsity players pulling double duty. Once we get away from that starting five, there's not a whole lot of experience down there."

But the good news is that's all the bad news. Aside from a slight lack of depth and experience, Hutchings has been getting eyebeams of good news since his squad began pounding the hardwood two weeks ago.

Kim Pawlak is no longer just a sharp-shooting freshman. Now she's a sharp-shooting sophomore who has added further jumping to her already dead-eye jump shot.

Girls

Jennifer Cavaness is no longer just tall. Now she's tall and fundamentally sound. At 6-1, Cavaness will no doubt give the Warriors added dimensions of rebounding and inside power from her starting center position. Cavaness did see playing time last year, but, Hutchings said she will be the key to the Lady Warriors' success and/or failure this year.

"Jennifer has gotten a lot better since last year," Hutchings said. "She's jumping better. She's shooting better. She's getting confidence. I think if she really gets it all together this year, she's going to be dangerous."

In fact, with Pawlak and Knollman nailing down the guard duties and Cavaness camping out under the hoop, the Warrior forwards figure to bust many a zone defense if things go as planned.

Seniors Becky Davis and April Barker will be manning the forward slots, as Hutchings sees subtle strengths in them.

"April is really quick, and she can put the ball in the hoop when she gets under the basket," Hutchings said. "Becky played a little last year, but she's really improved also. She's a great defensive player."

Hutchings said she will also be looking for help from 6-1 sophomore Amy Cant, Melanie Merz and Melissa King.

Hutchings said the most significant change from the past two years — during which Granite

City won a combined eight games — is in attitude. The returning letterwinners all underwent an attitude adjustment during the off-season and the coach thinks it will provide a change for the positive.

"The girls worked during the off-season," Hutchings said. "They want to look respectable this year. They think they can play with anybody, and I do, too."

Still, the picture will remain cloudy until Tuesday, when the Warriors open their season in Carlyle at 9 p.m.

"The girls are eager to go," Hutchings said. "We've got to put ourselves in a game situation and see what we've got."

In time for the league playoffs in February. The top two teams in each division plus eight wild cards make the playoffs in the 26-team league. The Warriors are joined in the North Division by Cahokia, McCluer, McCluer North, Hazelwood East, Hazelwood Central and Francis Howell.

"The Hazelwood schools should give us our strongest competition," Henson said. "CBC, DeSmet and Lafayette are the teams to beat in the league."

"We don't have a junior varsity team now, but I am petitioning the league to have one," Henson said. "They say you need 25 players and we only have 18. I also want them to waive the rule saying you have to freeze 12 players for varsity competition only. Outside of the seven seniors, I would like all of them to get lots of playing time. And we're going to try to win the division so we'll be going with our best players when we have to."

Although the outlook is iffy this year, Henson sees vast potential in the near future.

"There is a little gap here," he said. "We have a lot of good players in seventh and eighth grade. The program looks solid for the next six years. I'm excited."

coming on shots taken from somewhere in the vicinity of Wyoming, Montana, a 6-2 sophomore from Marshall High School in Chicago, collected 20 points in limited playing time, while Stevanus, a 6-3 sophomore from Granite City, and Ware, a 5-10 freshman from Madison, racked up 19 and 16 points, respectively.

Overall, Collins said Thursday's win was indicative of his theory that whether they win, lose or draw, the Stars will be exciting to watch this season.

But with this squad set to face Lincoln Land on Monday and Rend Lake on Tuesday, he tacked an asterisk onto that statement.

"I think we're going to be pretty good," he said. "But we'll have to see how we do against some of the more talented teams next week."
